About the Social Justice Fellowships

The NIF/SHATIL Social Justice Fellowships enables post-college Jewish young adults to spend 10 months immersed in the movement for social change in Israel.

The Experience

These Fellowships, which include a modest stipend, place young Jewish activists in Israeli non-governmental organizations (NGOs) for a year of in-depth contribution and learning. Additionally, Fellows engage in monthly enrichment programs and periodic site visits to further develop their understanding of Israel, Israeli activism, and their role as activists both in Israel and at home. Fellows spend the year with an organization working in one of the following areas:

- *Safeguarding civil and human rights and strengthening democracy
- *Building shared society
- *Promoting Palestinian equality
- *Advancing social and economic justice
- *Advocating for religious freedom

Requirements

Applicants must be college graduates by the start of the fellowship. Since Fellows intern full time at an Israeli NGO, successful applicants must have excellent Hebrew language skills, or very good Hebrew with excellent Arabic skills.

The Fellowship year runs from September 1, 2018 through June 30, 2019.
